EXHIBIT A

Specific Use of Funds and Expected Outcomes

With four partner sites across New Orleans, the Contractor will provide its Mini Masters Initiative (the "Program" or the "Initiative"), which includes arts-integrated instruction for pre-kindergarten children, introducing developmentally appropriate experiences that link works of art in NOMA's collection to language arts, science, and math concepts.

In addition to the benefits for the students provide through the Mini Masters series, NOMA will also provide professional development for educators and teachers, both on-site and online, to allow them to continue integrating art into the classroom beyond their participation in the program. NOMA shall provide a free family membership to the New Orleans Museum of Art for those families participating in the Program.

The Mini Masters Initiative will build skills, including, but not limited to, increasing vocabulary skills - used to describe artwork and improvements in higher order – and thinking skills, while also increasing the number of educators and teachers integrating the arts in education.

In addition, the Contractor will use a portion of the funding for general operating expenses, which will be used to continue the Contractor's role as a first-class, world-class cultural organization and economic engine for the community by providing jobs, educational resources, and improving quality of life.
